We also instruct everyone to take note of the following:

1. If public celebrations in the church are already allowed during these dates, personnel of the assigned sponsoring department are urged to physically attend the liturgy, unless if they are working from home or are virtually supervising the attendance of their students.
2. Academic departments may shorten their classes during the day of their sponsoring schedule so that their teachers and students may be able to physically or virtually participate.
3. During the novena schedules, non-sponsoring departments may asynchronously view the liturgical celebrations through our social media pages.
